Lerninhalte	Topics derive from a variety of psychology media and discussions are based on them. These sources provide the springboard from which numerous spoken functions will be activated and necessary vocabulary and functional language will be explored. The media are chosen by the students. If so desired by the students, certain passages will be translated into German to further understanding of the text.
Lehr- und Lernmethoden	Group work, self-study
Unterrichtssprache	English
Leistungsbewertung	The assessment has three parts. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Each student must lead the discussion of their article. The discussion includes questions about article vocabulary and content. • The quality of participation will be graded over the entire semester. It is how much a student participates that will be evaluated, not the aspects of grammar. • The quality of language will be evaluated. This includes grammar and vocabulary usage and the ability to participate in discussion (questions, agreeing, disagreeing). This evaluation will take place continuously throughout the semester. *
